

DPG Physics School

supported by the Wilhelm and Else Heraeus-Foundation

General Relativity @ 99

14 – 19 September, 2014, Physikzentrum Bad Honnef, Germany

Gerhard Schäfer (FSU Jena) and Clifford M. Will (University of Florida and IAP, Paris)

Lecturers:

Nils Andersson (University of Southampton, UK)
Emanuele Berti (University of Mississippi, USA)
Luc Blanchet (Institut d'Astrophysique de Paris, France)
Bernd Brügmann (University of Jena, Germany)
Alessandra Buonanno (University of Maryland, USA)
Karsten Danzmann (University of Hanover and AEI, Germany)
Pedro Ferreira (University of Oxford, UK)
Sergei Klioner (University of Dresden, Germany)
Michael Kramer (MPI for Radioastronomy Bonn, Germany)
Claus Lämmerzahl (ZARM, University of Bremen, Germany)
Cole Miller (University of Maryland, USA)
Ekkehard Peik (PTB Braunschweig, Germany)
Roberto Peron (IAPS-INAF Rome, Italy)
Eric Poisson (University of Guelph, Canada)
Jürgen Renn (MPI for the History of Science, Berlin, Germany)
Sheila Rowan (University of Glasgow, UK)
Xavier Siemens (University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, USA)
Norbert Wex (MPI for Radioastronomy Bonn, Germany)
Clifford Will (University of Florida and Institut d'Astrophysique de Paris)

This international physics school for students, Master and PhD, and postdocs will be held on the eve of the 100th anniversary of GR. The aim of the school is to impart thorough understanding of advanced topics in general relativity with specific emphasis on its physical and astrophysical implications.

Fees:

Covering full board and lodging at the Physikzentrum Bad Honnef
200 € (for DPG members 100 €).

Physikzentrum Bad Honnef

Application & more information:

www.pbh.de

Deutsche Physikalische Gesellschaft

